APPENDIX C

Some further notes on Manleyville, Geneva Township

Adoniram J. Manley bought a half-section of railroad land, the S 1/2 of Sec. 27, T7N, R3W, in November, 1872. Manleyville was platted in February, 1875.

Mr. Manley desired to establish a village, and to encourage the erection of homes and business houses, he promised to give settlers the lots if they should erect a substantial dwelling or place of business within one year in the planned village. If they should fail to erect such structures within said period, their interest and titles to said lots were to lapse and become null and void. There were no other considerations for granting such deeds.

None of the deed-holders ever erected a building there, and so Manley never parted with possession of the various tracts.

Thereafter Manley had his half-section of land, including the several lots and tracts, fenced, and he held possession of the land until his death. It was willed by him to his wife Dorliska. He had a daughter Jessie (Cushman). A. J. Manley died on August 6, 1889, at either Dunkirk or Pomfret (both villages in Chautauqua County), New York. Dorliska sold the farm to Mordecai Pangle on November 20, 1899.

Those who took deeds in Manleyville (all dated February 15, 1875) were the following: John G. Bigelow, Wilson Price, R. F. Livermore, L. F. Jeffs, Berry and Bedu, Henry J. Manley, Mead (or Mearl) Drake, D. Hanson Wait, Emerson Howe, G. E. Noble, John Haitt (or Hartt), Adelaide L. Forbust (or Forbush), and Calvin Bane. Mr. Bane in turn deeded his lots to Milton Selby, T. L. Williams, John Chase, and C. D. Camp.
